ARTHUR S. BIRD

CONGRATULATIONS

CONGRATULATIONS ATLANTA AND PIGGLY WIGGLY

In the summer of 1930, Arthur S. Bird came to Atlanta to live among us. He brought with him the pioneer spirit of his native Texas ---he quickly caught the zest of Atlanta's Civic enthusiasm and became a constructive and important factor in the progress of this city.

Among Arthur Bird's many contributions to Atlanta's civic life we need only to point to his leadership of the Community Chest drive last fall. After two short years of residence here he led the drive to success when many had despaired.

Atlanta is to be congratulated that Arthur Bird did not accept one of the many business offers that would have moved his residence. The Piggly Wiggly Stores are to be congratulated on having acquired this man's fine leadership.

DR. GREEN SCORES CITY LABOR CHIEF

Steve Nance Angered
Over Chairman's Support of Key, Is Charge.

Charging that A. Steve Nance, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, is attempting to oust the entire democratic executive committee, because he (Green) declined to join in the move to recall Mayor James L. Key, Dr. Samuel Green, chairman, Friday denied there is a revolt in the committee.

He called on the citizens of Atlanta to await a court decision on the act of the assembly which set the primary date between September 1 and October 31 and ordered election of a new committee—one from each of the 13 wards to supersede the present four-member committee from each of the wards. The committee has set the primary within the dates specified, but has refused to order a committee election in order to test the constitutionality of the act.

Green leveled a broadside at Albert Gossett, business agent for the bricklayers' local, who is attempting to obtain signatures of a majority of the committee members to call a special meeting of the committee to elect committeemen in compliance with the act. The committee charged that Gossett is under the domination of Nance, ambitious to control local politics. He played Nance for failing in the recall and then obtaining passage of the primary "bill through reprehensible methods."

Green's statement follows: "It is time the people of Atlanta understood the motives behind the fight on the city democratic executive committee, which has fought for preservation of the white primary in Atlanta."

"This underhanded and unwarranted attack on the committee is a direct retaliation by a group who attempted to crucify Mayor James L. Key in a recall effort, and who are now seeking to dominate Atlanta politics through an extra-legal and unconstitutional act of the Georgia assembly."

"If the motives of those attempting to discredit the executive committee are as pure and holy as they would lead the citizens of Atlanta to believe, why should they object to a court decision on the constitutionality of a law which they rammed through the assembly at the eleventh hour and without having it properly sound— a procedure highly reprehensible?"

"Why is Albert Gossett so concerned about this matter now, when he told me in my private office that he would not be embarrassed by the clique of ambitious so-called labor leaders? Why has he chameleon-like changed his colors when it was he who made the motion in the subcommittee meeting that the primary be held May 21, contrary to provisions of the legislative act, and when he stated in the same meeting that 'We will fight the matter to a finish'?"

"Why did he vote to direct the chairman of the committee to employ counsel to fight the act if it were so contrary to his beliefs?"

"Ambition" Received Setback.

"When Steve Nance, president of

Atlanta Veteran of Gray Observes 90th Birthday

J. Henry Summers, Confederate veteran who fought with Company D, Phillips' Legion, through Gettysburg and other important battles of the War Between the States, Friday, with his wife, celebrated his ninetyeth birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. W. Ligon, 401 East Ontario avenue. Mr. Summers, a resident of Newnan until 11 years ago, when he moved to Atlanta, formerly was in the cotton warehouse business.

Mr. Summers was the guest of honor at a family dinner attended by many relatives and friends. He is the father of six children, four of whom, B. J. Summers, of Birmingham; J. B. Summers, of Ligon and Mrs. J. T. Vinson, of Atlanta, are living.

EDWARD STRICKLAND, WAR VETERAN, PASSES

Edward Strickland Jr., of Cartersville, veteran of the World War and well-known Cartersville and Rome businessman, died Friday morning at the United States Veterans' Hospital No. 48, after an extended illness. A graduate of the University of Georgia, where he was a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity, Mr. Strickland was in the mercantile business and was a member of a well-known Georgia family. His mother was the late Mrs. Helen Peoples Strickland. Surviving are his wife; two sons, Thomas and Edward Strickland III; his father, Edward Strickland Sr.; a brother, Evans Strickland, and three sisters, Mrs. C. M. Milam, Mrs. Joe Dunn and Mrs. Ben C. Gilreath, of Cartersville.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Gilreath in Cartersville and interment will be in the Benham cemetery. H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

the Atlanta Federation of Trades, and a small clique who followed him, attempted to oust Mayor Key and failed. Mr. Nance's ambition to dominate local politics received a severe setback. He then attempted to take the sovereign right from the citizens of Atlanta to run the primary.

"When the recall battle loomed, Mr. Nance sought my support in the fight, knowing that I had not supported Mr. Key in his race. I declined because I did not believe any man should be ousted from a position to which he is elected by the voters unless malfeasance or misfeasance is shown. Furthermore, I believe in the right of any citizen to express his views on any matter and the right of the press to publicize such views."

"This irked Mr. Nance and he laid the insidious scheme to oust the end time committee in order to punish a man who honestly disagreed with him on a matter of principle."

"Mr. Gossett's changed attitude is a direct result of Mr. Nance's activities and of the small labor clique which supports him. I have never fought labor, but on the contrary have been its friend. I still am, but I feel that these few so-called leaders are usurping the rights of free Atlantans. The laboring man is not behind this or any other move to pay off a personal political debt and to enable a man to vent his personal spleen on another individual."

Committee Revolt Denied.

"There is no revolt in the committee, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. We believe the act is unconstitutional and propose to continue our announced policy of testing the law. Why are the few personal enemies of the committee afraid to allow the courts to adjudicate the issue? It is a matter for the courts to decide. The issue is plain. If the law is constitutional and the courts so decide, we will abide by the decisions."

"We have begun this action in plenty of time to get a court decision. When it comes down, if an election of the committee is mandatory, the committee will abide cheerfully by the ruling."

"We believe that every good citizen should be willing, now that the matter is in court, to wait until a decision is handed down, and will frown on the effort of the disgruntled few who are trying to try the case by arousing public sentiment rather than awaiting a decision by the tribunals of the state."

BARON ALIEN ASKED AS POLITICAL FACTOR

System of Elector Allocation Unfair, Tarver Asserts.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Urging speedy adoption of his "alien representation amendment" to the constitution, Representative Malcolm C. Tarver, of Georgia, today broadcast an appeal from station WJIS, Alexandria, Va., for congressional and state action that will bar aliens from registering a vote in the American government.

Senator Capper, of Kansas, has a similar amendment pending in the senate and both he and the Georgia congressman are exerting every effort to get favorable action at this session.

"Few people would insist, as a matter of primary justice," said Mr. Tarver, "that those who are not citizens of a country shall exercise any control over its government, directly or indirectly. My amendment proposes to allow the people of this nation, through their legislatures, to say whether they are satisfied to have continued an absurd situation by which a tremendous alien population has representation in congress and power in the allocation of electors for president and vice president.

The effect of my amendment, excluding aliens from the count in determining congressional representation would not be as drastic as has been suggested by some of its opponents. According to the last census, there are 6,284,013 citizens of foreign governments who are now accorded representation in the congress of the United States.

"It is sufficient to point out that if over six and a quarter million aliens are excluded from the count which determines the congressional representation to which each state is entitled, the population basis of congressional representation will be reduced under the 'major fraction plan' from 270,712 to 267,207, so that states without a disproportionate share of alien population will not lose a single congressman."

He explained that Georgia, Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina and Tennessee would gain one congressman each if his amendment was adopted, and that such states as New York, Illinois and Massachusetts would lose one or more congressmen.

AVIATRIX CHIDES D.A.R. ON ARMAMENT STAND

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Minding no words, Amelia Earhart Putnam today brought a gasp from the assembled daughters of the American Revolution by rapping them sharply for agitating for strong armaments while not doing a thing to ward having women bear arms in war.

The slender, bobbed-haired young woman who 11 months ago flew the Atlantic alone, argued that equality with men is essential, and that women should be drafted in war time.

Furthermore, she said, she felt industrial development "is just as important" as the military defense.

The daughters heard her with a start of surprise but quickly smothered this in applause.

They turned almost immediately afterward to their own internal affairs, blanketing her with questions to the policies of Mrs. Russell William Magnus, president general, and then adjourned the forty-second continental congress after a week's sessions.

Determined opposition was beaten down as the congress voted indorsement to the non-affiliation policies of Mrs. Magnus.

The non-affiliation vote means that the D. A. R. will remain aloof from the Women's Patriotic Congress, the National Defense and the American Coalition of Patriotic Societies, from which it withdrew early in the Magnus regime.

Mrs. Clark Sentenced To 6 Months in Jail

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Genevieve A. Clark, Fosbury mail fraud trial juror whose inexperience on acquittal brought jury disagreement in 1931, was sentenced today to six months in jail today for contempt of court.

She had been ordered resented in federal district court after the United States supreme court had upheld her conviction in Minneapolis.

The circuit court of appeals previously had upheld the conviction, but decided she must be either fined or jailed, but not both. The lower court had assessed a $1,000 fine and a six-month jail term.

Mrs. Clark, a Minneapolis housewife, will serve the term in the county jail here, starting next Monday.

LINDBERGH AND WIFE ARRIVE IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, making an inspection tour of the Transcontinental Airways, accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh, arrived here at 1:22 p. m. (central standard time) today from Indianapolis. It was Colonel Lindbergh's first visit to St. Louis, his former home, since January, 1930.

Today Is the Day to Register For World's Fair Trip Entry

Mary Pickford and Leslie Howard in "Secrets," the picture which opened at Loew's Grand theater on Friday.

Today is the day! That free trip to the Century of Progress, the World's Fair in Chicago, is approaching. At the bottom of this article is a registration blank. It's the thing you've been waiting for. Now read the rules carefully and act accordingly.

The judges are selected—here are their names: Luke Arnold, secretary of Mayor Keri; J. H. LeCraw, past president of the Senior and Junior Chambers of Commerce; and Morris Ewing, president of the Atlanta Real Estate Board.

They will determine the lucky couple who are to be Mary Pickford and Leslie Howard in "Secrets," the picture which opened at Loew's Grand theater on Friday.

What is easier than writing just one letter to win a free trip to Chicago and back, with a three-day stay at the largest hotel in the world, overlooking the greatest exposition in the world on the shore of one of the largest lakes in the world?

From your window in the Hotel Stevens you will view a panorama of beauty that you will never forget as long as you live—if you are lucky enough to write the winning letter. Chicago's picturesque skyline will form the foreground of this picture and the blue waters of Lake Michigan will be its background, while the rich pinnacles of the Century of Progress shimmering in the sun will be the main color motif.

Acres of beautiful buildings and marvelous grounds will spread like a brilliant carpet before the winners. Twenty foreign nations will display their treasures, and American industry will occupy more than $5,000,000 worth of exhibition space in conveying its message of creation to more than 50,000,000 visitors who will pass the entrance turnstiles.

Beginning its local engagement Friday at Loew's Grand is "Secrets," the picture which inspired Mary Pickford to offer this great opportunity through The Constitution Secrets Century of Progress Tour. "Secrets" is a screen feature built around the secrets of marital happiness. It presents for all to see the problems which modern matrimony is pioneering today on the modern matrimonial frontier.

Perhaps these problems may resemble yours, perhaps not. But at least they furnish the inspiration for all the secrets of marital happiness. Whether you agree with them or not, write your own idea of the Secrets of Marital Happiness. Make your letter accord with the rules of the contest, and perhaps it will win that coveted trip to the World's Fair, the guest of "America's Sweetheart."

Tomorrow The Constitution will publish one of the letters which the judges will select. This does not mean, of course, that it will be the winning letter. It merely means that it will be one of the interesting letters submitted the first day of the contest.

FACTOR RETURNS, RANSOM UNPAID

"Jake the Barber" Confident Abductors of Son Will Be Apprehended.

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP)—Jerome Factor wrote the climax to his sensational kidnapping by appearing safely at his home early today.

Swift sequel to the case was predicted by the father, John, in the apprehension of the conspirators who kept the 19-year-old university student prisoner for eight days.

"I'll push the hunt for the kidnapers," he said. "We had plenty of clues—hot clues. And we were closing in on them."

"I am pretty sure I know who the guilty men are."

About eight men were involved in the abduction, Factor said.

When Jerome arrived at the home of his mother, Mrs. Leonard Marcus, early this morning he had $14.05 in his pocket.

When seized the night of April 12 he carried $15 in bills with him. The difference represented taxi fare from the point of his release to his home and, the elder Factor emphatically said, the sole expense of his return.

He repeated his denial that the $100,000 ransom—or any part of it—had been paid.

Through several gangland chiefs, Factor during the search for his son had enlisted the aid of nearly 500 men who move in or about the fringe of the city's underworld.

Prize: Free trip to Century of Progress (World's Fair) at Chicago, including three days at one of Chicago's finest hotels.

Prize will be awarded to married couple who writes best letter on the subject: "Secrets of Marital Happiness."

To enter contest, clip registration blank from The Constitution starting Friday, fill in names of husband and wife, then write letter telling secrets of marital happiness. Enclose this letter in sealed envelope with the following items: (1) Photograph of husband and wife, taken separately together. (2) List of 10 rules for marital happiness, each one sentence long. (3) Registration blank clipped from paper and properly filled out. Contestants may deposit their sealed envelopes in the lobby of Loew's Grand in a box labeled Secrets Century of Progress Tour; or letters may be mailed either to the paper or the theater, addressed to the Secrets Century of Progress Editor.

Letters will be judged for the material in them, not for form or phraseology; they may be written by either husband or wife, or in collaboration by both, or by any relative or friend, but they must be signed by the competing couple, and must tell their secrets of marital happiness. Length of time couple has been married does not matter, or number of times each may have been previously married.

No letter will be considered that is not accompanied by properly signed registration blank clipped from The Constitution, photographs of entrants and 10 rules for marital happiness.

Winners will be known as Atlanta's Lucky Married Couple.

Letters must be written legibly in ink, or by typewriter, and on one side of the paper only.

Three or more judges, in the discretion of the paper, will select the winning letter and their decision will be final. In case of a tie, however, both of the competing couples will be awarded the prize outlined in Item 2.

This contest will close exactly one week (seven days) after the opening day of Mary Pickford's picture, "Secrets," at Loew's Grand theater. Get your registration blank in early and avoid the rush.

847 New Members Sought In Y. M. C. A. Annual Drive

140 Campaign Workers Gather at Opening Rally, Hear Speeches by Newton and Marshall.

With an appeal of stern necessity and unflagging service ringing in their ears, 140 campaign workers organized into a compact spearhead of solicitors Friday night took the field in the Atlanta Y. M. C. A.'s annual membership campaign.

The goal of the drive, which will last from April 21 through 28, is 847 new members to sustain the city "Y" during the year 1933. During the course of the campaign only, the solicitors will make a special offer of a 13-month membership for the usual price of a 12-month membership.

The principal speaker at Friday night's opening campaign luncheon in the gymnasium of the "Y" was Dr. Louis D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church. Dr. Newton held up before the 140 campaign workers the Y. M. C. A. as Atlanta's most powerful factor in the cure of the depression. He paid high tribute to the old-time leaders of Atlanta who founded the Y. M. C. A. and added the prediction that "Atlanta has come to a realization of the importance of the Y. M. C. A. in the general well-being of the city" and predicted success for the campaign.

Charles M. Marshall, general campaign manager, made a stirring inspirational speech, in which he asserted that "the Y" has stood the test of hard times and is still giving the same vital service that it has given over a period of many years past.

The year 1933 is going to be the most critical the Y. M. C. A. has ever faced," he said. "While we are not having this campaign on the threat of suspending service—a prospect that Atlanta cannot afford to face—failure in this drive would make it necessary for us to curtail the absolutely essential service that the Y affords Atlanta's young men, and would even force entire suspension of some of the services the Y makes available."

Philip M. Colbert, general secretary of the Atlanta "Y," and George L. Goodwin, organization campaign director, also delivered addresses on the importance of the success of this year's membership campaign.

The first report meeting will be held at 6:16 o'clock Monday night, with a supper in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. building on Luckie street.

Charles F. Stone is partner manager with Mr. Marshall in the direction of the 1933 membership drive. There are seven divisions of workers actively engaged in soliciting memberships. These divisions are

Retail Sales Tax Proposed To Provide School Finances

Leaders Discuss Education Problems in Savannah; Governor and Mrs. Talmadge Entertained by City.

By MARK TEMPLE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 21.—A retail sales tax and other reforms to meet the state's system of taxation problem were presented to the Georgia Education Association here today.

The tax revision program was presented by B. M. Grier, superintendent of Athens schools and chairman of the educational campaign committee. Leaders look upon the plan as the solution of the school finance situation.

M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, told the association plan to raise educational requirements of teachers and Dr. S. V. Sanford, president of the University of Georgia, advocated a fundamental change in the system of financing schools.

The association elected the following officers for the coming year: M. R. Little Jr., of Louisville, president; Dr. E. H. Scott, dean of the Georgia State College for Women, treasurer; Miss Allie Mann, Atlanta teacher, vice president, and Mrs. Kate Brown, Henry county superintendent, director for a three-year term, succeeding Mrs. Helen Gurr, of Dawson. Superintendent E. G. Egan, of Bainbridge, withdrew as a candidate for vice president.

Collins said a moratorium was contemplated on behalf of the unpaid school teachers, with suspension of the possibility of their certificates expiring during the depression because of their unpaid salaries.

Dr. Sanford said a transfer of support from local communities to the state is required under present conditions and more federal aid may be necessary.

Talmadge Speaks.

The association put over until night the election of Governor Eugene Talmadge, who is here with Mrs. Talmadge and a number of colonels on his military staff, was the chief speaker at the night meeting.

When the governor's train arrived early in the day a troop of cavalry and brass bands were on hand. One of the bands played "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the governor smiled.

The governor and Mrs. Talmadge, with the military staff, were in a parade from the station to the home. The city was host at a breakfast for the executive and the staff with prominent men and women from the city and surrounding territory in attendance.

There was a reception for the governor late in the afternoon and the governor's party attended a luncheon at the hotel. The governor and Mrs. Talmadge will attend a review and reception at Fort Screven. Late Saturday night the governor and Mrs. Talmadge expect to go to McRae, their south Georgia home, for the week-end.

To Raise Standards.

Collins said the changes contemplated in the raising of requirements for teachers may be made over a period of years.

He said teachers themselves are insisting that standards be raised in order that undertrained and poorly prepared teachers be required to better prepare themselves.

"The general policy of the state department of education," he said, "is to eliminate the use of the certificate of no preparation and to reduce the number of certificates thus simplifying certificate procedure."

"At present certificates are issued on one and two years of college work and on degrees from standard institutions. It is our hope that at the end of two years of college work, which is based now upon credit or a year of college work, may be dropped."

Dr. Sanford, in his address, referring to the recent action of the state board of regents to reorganize the university system, said:

"If publically controlled institutions are engaging in unnecessary and wasteful duplication, educational administrators should take the responsibility for more economic administration of the state's program for higher education. This is being done by the regents at the present."

Most Have Efficiency.

He continued: "We must have efficiency and economy in our educational affairs. There is an awakening on the part of the people to the expenditures foisted on them. Already there is taking place a quiet rebellion—a rebellion whose volunteers are voters and whose bullets are ballots. It must be encouraged. It is the shame of a nation, dedicated to the principles of universal suffrage, that we lead the world in stay-at-home voters."

Grier, in presenting tax revision, said one can not divorce education and taxation and said the time had arrived for a change in the existing system and the fight had just begun.

A reasonable consumers' sales tax, he continued, is one of the main avenues open to the legislature. He said it was generally conceded that education increases the standard of living "which means, of course, it increases the amount the people spend. It seems logical, therefore, that the schools should be supported by the product of their own creation."

He said the state income tax could be made to produce $750,000, $1,250,000 a year additional to revenue now being received if the existing rates were made to conform with federal. He said incomes also could be made in the inheritance and insurance tax revenues.

Grier turned to what he called "the much-abused system of allocation of revenues by the state. He said the amount to be spent should be considered on the merits of any department for service rendered in the light of total state expenditures and through a budget commission rather than by legislative allocation."

MODIFIED SENTENCE FOR YOUNG KILLER

TRENTON, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Superior Judge C. C. Pittman has approved an agreement between prosecution attorneys and Grady Jeffers, 13, to modify the youth's prison sentence for killing his school principal, Professor V. C. Collier, last March.

He was sentenced to 18 years in prison and had intended to appeal to the supreme court but the agreement brought an end to the litigation. Under its terms, he will be serving a five-year term at the reformatory forthwith and after that he must spend 13 years on the chain gang.

NO HOME IS COMPLETE WITHOUT A JINKY

War on Mosquitoes Planned at Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—A drainage project designed to end the mosquito menace on both sides of the Savannah river has been proposed at a joint conference of South Carolina and Richmond county, Georgia, health authorities.

The plan is to borrow funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to supplement regular health department appropriations and assign prisoners in the Richmond county stockade to the work.

Authorities pointed out that eradication work on either side of the river alone would be of no avail because varying winds blow the mosquitoes from one side to the other.

CHARITY GROUP BARS SUNDAY BALL BENEFIT

MACON, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Macon's charity agency, the Society of Organized Service, wants financial contributions all right but it refuses anything derived from Sunday baseball games.

A sports promoter proposed starting Sabbath day games in Macon with all proceeds going to the service. But directors rejected the offer unannounced.

"I don't think this board can go on record as favoring Sunday baseball," said T. Baldwin Martin, chairman of the work relief committee. "If we go on record as favoring it, it will put a black mark on our service that we won't be able to live down."

"Eat an Egg a Day" To Be Slogan for Georgia Observance.

Cooking schools in Atlanta, Columbus, Macon, Savannah and Augusta have been planned with the idea of showing the public new and more delightful ways of preparing and using eggs, and the work will be supplemented by radio programs.

In the cooking schools the eggs, as one of the most important materials in the realm of cookery, will be featured. Hot weather dishes, including frozen desserts, will be prepared. Correct temperatures for cooking eggs will be discussed, and practical demonstrations given in baking cakes, pies and other desserts.

A quality egg-breaking demonstration, to display the different qualities and defects found in eggs, is planned. The public is invited. "Eat an egg a day" will be the slogan.

GOVERNOR BRANDS ECONOMIC RELIEF TALK "POPPYCOCK;" EPTING CLAIMS BEER MAJORITY IN HOUSE.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 21.—(AP) Governor Eugene Talmadge here tonight after consolidating returns from two polls of the general assembly.

Only 14 senators, however, have signed their approval of the proposal, he said. A majority of 26 would be needed.

One of the polls was conducted by Epting and a group associated with him and the other jointly by Representative Roy Harris, of Richmond, floor leader of the house, and the Augusta Chronicle. Epting said that returns from the two canvasses together showed 110 representatives in favor of beer and a special session to legalize it. That number is six more than the required majority for passage.

Epting, in an analysis of the polls, said that out of 61 Georgia counties having a population less than 10,000 beer pledges had been received from 40. He said the smaller counties were those from which Governor Talmadge obtained his main support in the gubernatorial race.

"My own letters," he said, "show that out of the 2,900,000 people in Georgia I have pledges from representatives of 1,800,000 who want beer."

"It is up to the senate as to whether we will be able to give the requisite majority in both the house and senate to the governor."

He said he had pledges from 12 senators and letters favoring beer from two others. Thirteen of that number, he said, are from the ranks of the senate majority in the last session. Of the majority bloc of 36, only Senator W. H. Lovett, of Wrightsville, Epting said, had signed the beer pledge.

What we want is temperance," Talmadge declared. "I don't see how the law that is made here can be anything but a failure. But all this talk about beer being for economic relief is poppycock. What do you make if you buy a sack of candy and then eat it? What do you gain if you spend your money for beer, drink it, then sweat it out? We don't need such a rich state, anyway."

The governor said that "if we have something on hand, however, that encourages young men to go to the drug store and buy a hip flask and then fill it up and go to the homes of our best girls and offer them a drink of liquor. We must do something about it."

"You can't develop the best that is in young people by merely hiding temptation from them," he stated.

Before taking up the prohibition problem, the governor said, the first question confronting Georgia was the task of making an honest living.

War-time rates on lights, power, telephones, freight and other utilities must come down, he said, and taxes must be reduced.

The next problem is the common schools, according to Mr. Talmadge. He urged the teachers "not to go too far with your big school houses."

It costs more to get the children to the school than it does to teach them, he said.

He referred to the state highway department saying that "you have seen the highway department strong enough for the past 12 years to block the people. But a period has been written after it now and you are not going to see those conditions any more."

After some 300 engineers have been reduced to about 30 and other improvements made," he said, "you will find that about a million will maintain a lot of roads."

Experts from the State College of Agriculture and civic leaders held the show as a practical demonstration for live stock raising at a profit. All stressed the plea that farmers think less about cotton and more about cattle and hogs.

Hen Foster Mother To Litter of Puppies

MARSHALLVILLE, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—"Snow Flake," a large white hen that had been deprived of her own family of chicks, is mothering a litter of five black and white Fox Terrier puppies in one of the outbuildings on the place of Henry A. Lee here.

The hen takes the puppies under her wings, keeps them warm and won't let anyone disturb them. She pecks those who would try.

"Miami Lee," Mr. Lee's noted Fox Terrier, is mother of the puppies. They arrived about the time that "Snow Flake's" biddies hatched in the same building. When the foster mother leaves the adopted flock, the real mother takes her stand with them, but "Miami" is forced to leave when "Snow Flake" comes back.

Atlanta Gardens To Be Opened Today in Eggleston Hospital Tour

Today from 12 to 5 o'clock six beautiful Atlanta gardens will be opened to the public in the first of the series of three garden tours sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of Eggleston hospital, the other two coming on April 29 and May 6, respectively. The tickets, which can be procured at the entrance of each garden, are 50 cents for each afternoon, the entrance fee allowing each purchaser to tour the six gardens opened Saturday afternoon. The proceeds will go to the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial Hospital for Children.

The gardens to be visited today include Belloir, the charming home of Mrs. J. Bulow Campbell on Andrews drive, noted for its intimate series of gardens surrounded by boxwood. To the north of the house is a vista through the woods terminated by a background of boxwood, in front of which is placed an old Italian marble statue. One enters the gardens at the back of the house by descending several steps to a parterre surrounded by boxwood. On the left is the first of the small gardens, where the keynote is a fountain of water in the shape of a swan. Entrance to the wild flower garden is gained by a broad grass walk, at the end of which is an inviting seat. At Mrs. Campbell's garden will be Mesdames J. B. Lenhardt, William Disbro, John Otley Jr. and George Youmans.

Mrs. Frank Fleming, of 2892 Peachtree road, has a very lovely wild azalea garden of many varieties and hues. It features hillside planting, with terraces at the foot of the slope, where spring flowers form the borders. At Mrs. Fleming's garden will be Mesdames Ralph Paris, William Ogden, Frank Bell and Perrin Nicholson Jr.

Mayfair, the colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Atkinson and their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Dick, on Habersham way, is perfectly fitted with its charming garden. An old boxwood hedge encircles plantings, and a mountain laurel and rhododendron surround the house. A formal garden is reached by a flagstone walk, and a woodland walk beside a flowing stream leads to a cutting garden. At Mrs. Atkinson's garden will be Mesdames Marion Courts, R. T. Dozier, and Miss Virginia Courts and Caroline Nicholson.

The English house on Brookhaven drive of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rowbotham has a splendid rock garden at the rear of the house. The sound of the babbling brook that feeds the two crystal clear pools embedded in ferns that grace the two levels of the garden is entrancing. The exquisitely kept grass plots interrupted by naturalized rocks are surrounded by wild and cultivated plants whose flowers add colors of beauty to the whole. Behind the rock garden one enters the pine grove that is a haven of beauty. At Mrs. Rowbotham's garden will be Mesdames May Latimer, Charlotte King, Caroline Selden and Mrs. Joseph Brennan.

Up a steep driveway, past the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Rogers at 4040 East Brookhaven drive, flower lovers will enter the wild flower garden in the woods. The path is rich with the brilliant color of the tulips massed in orderly array under the stately trees. A rose garden, with yellow and white roses already in bloom, is passed on the upward climb. Visitors look down upon the lower garden that is built around a pool, which is surrounded by formal beds filled with tulips and perennials of surpassing beauty. This garden is a real achievement in expert gardening, as it is only two years old. At Mrs. Rogers' garden will be Mesdames Mary Adair Howell, Mary Meador Goldsmith and Mesdames William Ellis III and Bruce Woodruff.

TARZAN THE APE MAN No. 24

Holt and Parker managed to hold tight and Jean's fall over the precipice was checked. Swinging in mid-air, the girl clung desperately to the stout rope, never daring to look at the dizzy depths below. Holt precariously picked his way to where she hung.

With a great effort he lifted her to safety. She clung to him trembling. "Oh, John! I'm such a fool! I'm so sorry," wept Jean. "You poor darling!" responded Holt, with his arms around her. She hid her face in his chest, still trembling.

Then they heard Parker's voice above them: "Here! When you two have quite finished—'Self' consciously, they broke apart. 'You won't do that again, will you?' whispered John Holt. 'I don't want to die of heart failure before we reach the top.'"

John said: "I suppose you know you saved my life." "Oh, forget it," replied Holt. "That's the one thing I'll never do, John," answered the girl. Holt called up to Parker: "All right... go ahead!" He motioned to the men below. They started moving with a jerk, then stepped as Parker yelled.

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP)—Inflation lost its grip today as an immediate stimulating influence on the grain markets.

Hotter buying that has recently hoisted wheat more than 20 cents a bushel went into comparative eclipse today and prices worked downgrade, especially in the late dealings.

Wheat closed unsteady at almost the day's bottom prices, 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 under yesterday's finish, corn 1-8 to 1-4 down, oats unchanged, and provisions varying from 17 cents decline to a rise of 20 cents.

Grain prices fell as soon as business started. At times, however, the wheat market rallied to above yesterday's finish, largely as a result of purchasing on orders from eastern sources, and because of assertions that the drought came too late to be of much benefit in the bulk of hard wheat areas.

Heavy selling of wheat holdings was apparent throughout the day, and although much of the process was attributed to profit taking the effect was to weaken the market.

Corn and oats were relatively firmer than wheat. Eastern shipping demand for corn was improved.

Provisions were unchanged.
